Postdoctoral Positions

Fellowships at Counseling and Psychological Services 2022-2023

UCSB Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) is accepting applications for one or more General track Postdoctoral Fellow(s), and one Interpersonal Violence (IPV) track Postdoctoral Fellow. For the General track, the trainee will receive advanced clinical training and supervision in brief therapy, group counseling, and crisis intervention in an active and diverse university counseling service. In addition, the General track postdoc may have training opportunities, including supervision of the CAPS Mental Health Peers and other training responsibilities with practicum students and/or interns. For the IPV track, the trainee will receive advanced clinical training and supervision in brief therapy, group counseling, and crisis intervention with survivors of child abuse, sexual assault, dating violence, and stalking. The IPV track postdoc will receive individual supervision from and work closely with the CAPS IPV specialist.

Responsibilities of both positions include:

- intake assessment
- brief assessment/crisis intervention
- individual psychotherapy
- co-leading psychotherapy groups
- outreach to the campus community

Basic Qualifications: At the time of application, the minimum requirement is the completion of all requirements for doctoral degree in counseling or clinical psychology from an APA/CPA accredited program, except internship and dissertation (ABD status).

Additional Qualifications: All requirements for doctoral degree in counseling or clinical psychology from an APA/CPA accredited program must be met and verified by start date of appointment, including the successful completion of an APA/CPA accredited internship.

Preferred Qualifications: University counseling center internship, or at least 1 year experience working in a university counseling center. For the General track, previous experience with training activities and providing clinical supervision. For the IPV track, previous focused training, research, or clinical experience with survivors of trauma.

The training year begins on August 24, 2022, and ends on August 23, 2023. Fellows are full-time staff members and receive an annual salary of $51,500 (paid monthly). Fellows receive vacation, sick leave, professional development time, and other university benefits. Per University of California policy, UCSB requires applicants to pass a background check as a condition of employment.

CAPS is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, training and service as appropriate to the position.

UCSB is one of ten campuses in the University of California system. The campus is located on an 815-acre coastal site nestled between the Pacific Ocean and the Santa Ynez mountain range, 10 miles from Santa Barbara and 100 miles north of Los Angeles. The Santa Barbara area offers an outstanding quality of life.

UCSB ranks among the top 10 public universities in the nation. A member of the Association of American Universities, it is home to six Nobel Laureates, about 900 renowned faculty members, and dozens of elected members or fellows of prominent academies and associations.

Student enrollment is approximately 25,000, and our combined student population is increasingly multicultural and highly competitive. More than 70% of the students live on campus or in the adjacent community of Isla Vista, which creates a stimulating student residential environment.
